

BULLER SUCCESSFULLY BEGINS HIS ADVANCE.

Drives Boers From Some Strong Positions in the Biggersberg Range.

Roberts Decides to Press the Pursuit in the Free State—Burghers Still Active Around Mafeking.

BY AUTHORITY STANTHOPE.

SPECIAL BY CABLE.

London, Tuesday, May 15.—(Copyright, 1900, by the New York Herald Company.)—Once more the cannon has begun to speak in earnest in Natal. News reached London yesterday that Buller had moved out to force from Ladysmith and that he had won an important victory, driving the Boers from strong positions in the rugged defiles of the Biggersberg Range.

Great enthusiasm was displayed in London when the news of Buller's success arrived. It clearly manifested the popularity of the general, for the sending of the country was aroused in his favor by the recent discussion of his refusal to receive the Sphen Kop dispatches, and this latter news gave quite as much satisfaction as did the occupation of Koonstend by Roberts the other day.

Driven out of the Biggersberg, the Boers will have no choice but to fall back toward Newcastle upon the enormously strong natural fortifications of Lang's Nek and the Ingonyama Pass, which is dominated by Mafeking Hill. However, no one believes that an attempt will be made to attack the Boers at Lang's Nek by any other than a turning movement. It remains to be seen whether Sir Buller will cross the Buffalo River by Langman's Drift and attack Verburgh on the way or will advance by Newcastle.

Free State Annexation.
It is stated that a Cape Town proclamation, annexing the Free State to the British Empire, will be issued in the course of the week.

News From Mafeking.
The last hour of the siege of Mafeking are likely to be attended by some exciting news. Perhaps the latest advice from the quarter are contained in a message received from the correspondent of the Daily Mail at Ladysmith, dated Monday, which says:

"News from Pretoria is scanty and misleading. The Boers, however, attacked Mafeking on Saturday and managed, with the aid of artillery, to set the garrison camp on fire. Further fighting followed. The relief column is clearly making progress."

"If the Boers succeed in affecting the movements of the relief column we should have plenty of details, but we have not time as yet."

Some further information is given by the Standard and Digges' News of Johannesburg in the edition of Saturday last, which seems to indicate that at Fourteen Streams the Boers were beaten. The dispatch to the News says:

"The British are still advancing along the railway from Kimberley, and are also busily engaged in reappearing with Mafeking on Saturday and managed, with the aid of artillery, to set the garrison camp on fire. Further fighting followed. The relief column is clearly making progress."

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.
Pretoria, March 25.—(Copyright, 1900, by the New York Herald Company.)—A commission, composed of Messrs. Broder, Wessels and Wolmarans, and representing the Republics of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State, arrived in London yesterday. The ultimate destination of the commission is the United States. They have been dispatched to sue for peace on any honorable terms that will preserve their independence. Doubtless they will endeavor to collect the sympathy of European Powers, and to secure the intervention of the United States to protect their national rights.

SOUTHERN BAPTISTS APPLAUD A NEGRO.

Convention at Hot Springs Electrically Filled by the Eloquent African Missionary.

MONEY IS SHOWERED ON HIM.

Last Day's Sessions Filled With Business—Reports of Many Missionaries Are Heard—Other Proceedings.

REPUBLICAN SPECIAL.

Hot Springs, Ark., May 14.—The Southern Baptist Convention was electrified today by a speech from a negro missionary from Africa, who, for a few minutes, told of his work in the Dark Continent. He was the Reverend Charles L. Morris, a tall, slender, young man, of brown skin, a half dozen other missionaries had just told of their labors, and while the convention listened attentively, it remained for the negro missionary to stir the great gathering to tumultuous enthusiasm.

He told his hearers with thrilling eloquence that Carey was not the first modern missionary, but that the pioneers were the noble women, who took charge of the slaves when they landed in old Virginia, clothed and fed them and gave them the gospel. He was overwhelmed with applause from the hands and throats of 200 persons. It was some time before the moderator could restore order. He said:

"Brethren, I am in sympathy with your applause, but it's against the law."

The audience saw the smile on his brown face and broke forth in fresh applause. One of the officials said that such a speech was an opportunity to throw money on the platform. In a few moments several hundred dollars in silver and bills were laid out.

After surveying the shining coins for a moment the negro missionary said: "Don't give me the money to me, but turn it over to the treasurer of the Convention Board and have it used to send missionaries through the South to arouse the colored people to co-operation in mission work in Africa."

The contributions were so spontaneous that even after the election of officers, the platform refused to receive them. They kept falling on the platform at his feet.

Several great speeches have been made during the four days of the Southern Baptist Convention, but the speech of the African missionary and the incidents attending it formed the climax of the enthusiastic convention.

Last Day of Session.
This last day of the convention was crowded with business. The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary came for its annual collection. The finance report showed an increase of more than 25 per cent.
